Note card with detachable bookmark from TradeMark Catholic Stationery. Approximately 4½x 5½, blank on inside, with envelope. Front of card: Wishing You a Blessed Christmas Bookmark: Good morning, Sweet Jesus, my Savior. Good morning, dear Mary, my Queen. Good morning, bright angels, fair sentries of Jesus Who dwells here unseen. Dear Lord, I bring Thee some flowers, all wet with the dew of Thy grace. Every thought, every word, every action, and my heart I give for their vase. Back of card: A True Story Related on the Feast of the Nativity, 1925. A young lady, while making a retreat at a convent, was permitted by the Sister Sacristan to arrange the flowers on the altar. One day, a friend sent a great quantity of lilies-of-the-valley. Miss X arranged them and placed them on the tabernacle and humbly offered these lovely flowers to the Sacred Heart. The following day during her visit to the Blessed Sacrament, after admiring Gods beautiful flowers, she wished she had some others to present to Him and wondered what kind He would like today, when an interior voice distinctly said Forget-Me-Not. The next day when she made her visit, she said: Dear Jesus, what kind of flowers would you like today? Again the little interior voice replied: Your prayers will be all kinds of flowers, and I will gather the fairest and sweetest.
