A manifesto for protecting your net worth from greedy governments and rapacious taxation. Flight of the Golden Geese highlights the growing importance of passport portfolio management as a form of wealth protection. There is no denying the facts: The ultra wealthy are packing up their seven-figure tax burdens and fleeing their home countries in droves for Ireland, Singapore, and other tax havens-and why shouldn't they? For years governments have relied too heavily on a small percentage of citizens to shoulder the lion's share of their greedy habit, but now these high net-worth individuals, the Golden Geese as they have come to be known, are taking matters into their own hands. No longer resigned to sit back and watch as their fortunes are sucked dry to feed the cycle of overspending, they are taking flight. However, it is not only the unbearably high taxation they leave behind. They are leaving millions of bewildered citizens, the 99%, to carry a weight that will surely crush them.
